

Bugs found: 4

1. Use-after-free in process function: value assignment to pointer after memory is released.
2. Double-free in main function: calling free on a pointer that was already freed in the process function.
3. Potential NULL pointer dereference: malloc return value is used without checking for allocation failure.
4. Integer overflow: the variable sum will exceed the maximum value of a 32-bit signed integer.